Treasure and Tradition

Lisa Bergman

Although this beautiful book has been written as the ultimate guide to the Latin Mass, it can be read by, and thus a deeper appreciation of the Mass developed in, English Mass attendees as well. Not only does it take the reader through the format of the Mass, but it is full of facts about our Mass, e.g. if no water is available for the mingling of the water and wine, then Mass cannot be said, and it is full of historical facts about our Church, e.g. St. Augustine once belonged to a Gnostic sect called the Manichees. It also includes such features as: a commentary on Translations of the Bible, a Glossary of Catholic terms, Devotions for Confession, which includes a Confession format, Prayers for before and after Holy Communion and a Bibliography and Reading List. Lavishly illustrated in full colour and in black and white, this would be an ideal gift for anyone wanting a deeper relationship with Our Lord through the Eucharist, or anyone wanting to start attending any of the Latin Masses offered around Melbourne today. Highly recommended!

Climate: The Counter Consensus

Professor Robert M. Carter

Prefatory Essay by Tom Stacey

The counter-consensus to quasi-scientific hype and induced panic on climate change is at last assembling.

This book examines, with thoroughness and impartial expertise, the so-called facts of global warming that are churned out and unquestioningly accepted, while the scientific and media establishments stifle or deride any legitimate expression of an opposing view.

Abortion and Martyrdom

This work is a collection of papers delivered at the Benedictine Abbey of Saint-Pierre de Solesmes in 1999, addressing the issue of whether the Church should acknowledge children killed by abortion as "martyr companions of the Holy Innocents." The issue has arisen because a woman who lives in London, Patricia de Menezes, claims to have received private revelations from Our Lady calling for such a declaration. The work presents arguments for and against the proposition.

Beauty, Spirit, Matter: Icons in the Modern World

Our Orthodox brethren have long prayed with and written Sacred Icons. But it is only now, after centuries of absence, that Icons are becoming understood again in the West. As there are numerous excellent books about the theology and the liturgical use of icons, this volume concentrates on the broader implications of the icon's theology for our lives in the 21st century, exploring the insight that icons give to such contemporary issues as: ecology, the nature of beauty, and much more. Beautifully written and illustrated in colour.

Surprised by Truth

Foreword by Scott Hahn

A powerful collection of 11 testimonies of former Evangelical Protestants who converted to the Catholic Church. These deeply personal conversion accounts are unlike any you've ever read. They're packed with biblical, theological, and historical proofs for Catholicism. Each year, many thousands of atheists, Evangelicals, Mormons, Fundamentalists, Pentecostals, and other non-Catholics are being surprised by Catholic truth, and these converts tell you why.

Surprised By Truth 3

Here are more dramatic and thought-provoking conversion stories where ten men and women reveal why they changed their minds about Protestantism and entered the Catholic Church. These tales will do for you what these converts had to do for themselves: answer the most common objections to the Catholic Faith — and answer them in terms that non-Catholics find familiar and easy to understand. But these stories will do more than convert: if you're already Catholic, they will help you explain your Faith to non-Catholics and leave you prouder and more grateful than ever to be in Christ's Church.

Why is That in Tradition?

When someone accuses the Catholic Church of adding man-made doctrinal aberrations that go against Scripture, this is the book to reach for. It explains to the reader the crucial biblical difference between Tradition with a capital T and the many "small-t" traditions and customs that are of human origin. It tackles each subject with clear explanations and offers abundant evidence drawn from the writings of the early Christians. In fact, those doctrines that outsiders most often dispute are the very doctrines that bring people home to the Catholic Church. Share this book with a non-Catholic friend. You may be surprised by the results!

Holy Women

Women have always played a unique and critical role throughout Scripture, which has continued through today. In his weekly addresses, Pope Emeritus Benedict XVI expertly and thoughtfully explored the life stories of 17 such holy women. From St. Hildegard of Bingen to St. Teresa of Avilla to St. Joan of Arc and many more in between, each one brings a fresh experience and example of faith that is still relevant today. These models of prayer, faith, and action will help you gain a fuller understanding of Church history as well as personal faith.

Evangelizing Catholics: A Mission Manual for the New Evangelization

Scott Hahn

To be a Christian is to be an evangelizer. When the Catholic Church calls us to a "New Evangelization", that's simply a reminder to us of what has always been true. The good news is: you can do it - you can evangelize - and Scott Hahn shows you how. In this very practical mission manual, Dr. Hahn equips you with: a guide to understanding what the New Evangelization is, and who it's really for, a roadmap that leads you to where it all happens (hint: it's closer than you think) and a simple, beautiful message to share - in words and actions. You don't need esoteric knowledge. You don't need to master a new set of skills. Evangelization, for Catholics, is simply friendship raised up to the highest level. Enter a deeper friendship with Christ, and you'll want to share His Companionship more and more with a wider circle of friends.

Hints of Heaven

Fr. George William Rutler

Christ knew that the splendour of Heaven was too great for us to bear just now, and so he used parables as clues to the mystery of Paradise. In them are hints of Heaven, and they offer profound spiritual advice meant to guide us on the road to eternal glory. In our age, Christ's Parables are often reduced to exercises in moralism, but as Father shows us, there is so much more to them, e.g. Tares in the Field of the Lord: Why it's necessary that scandals beset the Church - and how it brings about a stronger harvest; The Yeast: How God speaks in a gentle and inward voice which melts the soul, and how you could be drowning Him out; The Two Sons: The dangers of agnosticism. Are you guilty? You may be astonished at the answer.

The Father of the Family

Clayton C. Barbeau

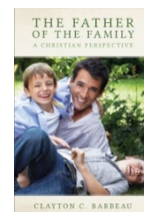

Here's the award-winning classic that for over forty years has shown Christian men how to be the loving husbands and gentle fathers that Christ calls them to be. Rooted firmly in Scripture, these pages call on husbands to stop thinking of themselves simply as bosses and breadwinners. Rather, husbands should see themselves as co-creators with God, imitators of Christ's love for His people, high priests in the domestic Church, teachers of their children, witnesses to society, providers of spiritual and material goods and models of holiness. But Barbeau offers more than just a sublime vision of marriage. Drawing on his own experiences as a husband and a father, he gives you practical tips to help you transform that vision into a daily reality in your own marriage.

The Book of Books

Henri Daniel-Rops

The Bible is less read and less familiar than it once was, so we need to rediscover its riches. How better to do that than through this delightful retelling by a master storyteller of the sacred tales of the Creation, the Fall, the Flood, and the Covenant made between God and His people?

In these pages, the greatest adventures of Hebrew history unfold vividly before your eyes: Moses and the sojourn in Egypt; the wars between the Jewish kingdoms; the glory of David and of Solomon; the building of God's Temple in Jerusalem; the Babylonian Exile of the Jewish people. Brilliant!

The Book of Life

Henri Daniel-Rops

Henri Daniel-Rops takes us back to the very foundation of Christianity, to the secret meetings of a persecuted community, and back even further to the life of the One who changed the world forever. Beginning with the appearance of the Angel to a young girl in Nazareth, he traces the fascinating story of Christ, His youth, teaching ministry, first disciples, many miracles . . . and, in the end, His betrayal, trial and death on the Cross.

That end made a new beginning, for then comes the triumphant Resurrection, and the final appearances of Jesus in His earthly body before He is taken up to Heaven, leaving us the Eucharist and the other sacraments that enable us to share in His divine life.

SWALLOWS AND AMAZONS

Arthur Ransome was born in Leeds in 1884. He is most famous for his young adult series Swallows and Amazons - a real treasure! The 12 books in the series involve adventures by groups of children in the school holidays in England and Scotland between the two World Wars. For anyone – young or old – who loves adventure, the outdoors, the freedom to explore and, especially, to sail! Great fun and fully illustrated with interesting things like maps and semaphore messages! Easily read to children: ages 8 – 10. Independent reading: 11+

Book 1: Swallows and Amazons

The Walker children - also known as Captain John, Mate Susan, Able-Seaman Titty, and Ship's Boy Roger - set sail on the Swallow and head for Wild Cat Island. There they camp under open skies, swim in clear water and go fishing for their dinner. But their days are disturbed by the Blackett sisters, the fierce Amazon pirates. The Swallows and Amazons decide to battle it out, and so begins a summer of unforgettable discoveries and incredible adventures!

CHILDREN'S PICTURE STORYBOOKS

How I Became a Pirate

Melinda Long

When Jeremy Jacobs is building a sand castle on the beach, his parents don't notice the ship pull up along the shore. Jeremy does though, and he also recognizes that it is full of pirates! He decides to join them and becomes one of the ship hands. He likes the pirate's life with no bedtimes and no manners being used. He is determined, though, that he must be back home in time for his soccer team to practice!

Don't Let the Pigeon Drive the Bus!

Mo Willems

When the driver leaves the bus temporarily, he gives the reader just one instruction: "Don't let the pigeon drive the bus!" But, boy, that pigeon tries every trick in the book to get in that driving seat: he whines, wheedles, fibs and flatters. Will you let him drive? Told entirely in speech bubbles, this is a brilliantly original book.

Prahran and Malvern Tramways Trust

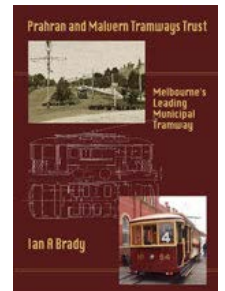

Ian A. Brady

A comprehensive history of one of Melbourne's early municipal tramways. It opened in 1910, and continued until 1920, when it was taken over by the Melbourne and Metropolitan Tramways Board. Operating in Melbourne's east, the P&MTT ran most of what is now the North Balwyn, Box Hill, Camberwell, Kew, Glen Iris, Malvern, East Malvern, St Kilda and Carnegie tram routes. By 1920, it was the largest of the early tramways systems.

High Speed Trains

Peter Clark

Ever since Japan introduced their Shinkansen trains, commonly called the Bullet Trains, in the 1960s, high speed rail has spread across Europe and Asia. From the TGV in France, to the HST in Great Britain, to the ICE in Germany, and the KTV in South Korea, and with operating speeds of just under 400km/h, high speed rail is a serious alternative to air travel. This book examines the history of high speed rail, and also looks at the problems faced and solutions found. It also looks at Australia's attempts at high speed rail. It also has details of all the different approaches countries have taken to high speed rail – Japan, France, Britain, USA, Canada, Germany, Russia, Sweden, Italy, Czech Republic, Slovakia, Austria, Switzerland, Spain, China, South Korea, Taiwan and Australia.

Mind the Curve!

John D. Keating

The colourful cable tram, 'gliding along with its swanlike motion', remains the nostalgic memory for Australians that the hansom cab is for the Londoner. Yet it was the major street transport over two generations for Melbourne, San Francisco, Chicago and other brash and self-confidently expanding great cities of the late nineteenth century. Immense investment and labour were required to establish the seventeen radiating routes of Melbourne, and smaller ones of Sydney. Melbourne's network of forty-six miles of double track equalled or surpassed those of San Francisco or Chicago in complexity and public importance. The innovative local technology of Duncan and Clapp was closely studied by transport authorities in the USA and elsewhere. Only San Francisco's cable trams, an internationally famous tourist attraction, remain in use. Melbourne's last tram made its final quiet journey down Bourke Street on 26 October 1940, ending fifty-five years of public transport. The musical bell rang no more, and the gripman gave for the last time his traditional warning call to passengers, 'Mind the curve!'
